vs.	)	REPORT OF MAGISTRATE JUDGE
Bank of America NA and	)
Specialized Loan Servicing,	)

Defendants.	)

As the plaintiff is proceeding pro se, all pretrial matters in this case are referred to a United States Magistrate Judge for consideration, pursuant to Title 28, United States Code, Section 636(b)(1)(A) and Local Civil Rule 73.02(B)(2)(e) (D.S.C.).

On May 22, 2015, defendant Specialized Loan Servicing filed a motion to dismiss (doc. 4). On May 26, 2015, pursuant to Roseboro v. Garrison, 528 F.2d 309 (4th Cir. 1975), the plaintiff was advised of the motion to dismiss procedure and the possible consequences if she failed to respond adequately. The plaintiff did not to respond to the motion.

As the plaintiff is proceeding pro se, the court filed a second order on July 6, 2015, giving the plaintiff through July 27, 2015, to file her response to the motion dismiss. The plaintiff was specifically advised that if she failed to respond, the action against defendant Specialized Loan Servicing would be dismissed for failure to prosecute. The plaintiff did not respond.

A complaint may be dismissed pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(b) for failure to prosecute and/or failure to comply with orders of the court. Ballard v.

Carlson, 882 F.2d 93, 95 (4th Cir.1989). In considering whether to dismiss an action pursuant to Rule 41(b), the court is required to consider four factors:

- (1) the degree of personal responsibility on the part of the plaintiff;
- (2) the amount of prejudice to the defendant caused by the delay;
- (3) the history of the plaintiff in proceeding in a dilatory manner; and,
- (4) the existence of less drastic sanctions other than dismissal.

Davis v. Williams, 588 F.2d 69, 70 (4th Cir.1978).

In the present case, the plaintiff is proceeding pro se, and she is thus entirely responsible for her actions. It is solely through the plaintiff's neglect, and not that of an attorney, that no responses have been filed. Meanwhile, defendant Specialized Loan Servicing is left to wonder when the action against it will be resolved. The plaintiff has not responded to this defendant's motion to dismiss or the court's orders requiring her to respond. Accordingly, the undersigned concludes the plaintiff has abandoned her lawsuit against Specialized Loan Servicing. No other reasonable sanctions are available.

Based on the foregoing, it appears the plaintiff no longer wishes to pursue her claims against defendant Specialized Loan Servicing. Accordingly, it is recommended that the claims against defendant Specialized Loan Servicing<sup>1</sup> be dismissed pursuant to Rule 41(b) due to the plaintiff's failure to prosecute. Ballard v. Carlson, 882 F.2d at 95.
